proposition that is not definite. Don't buy stuff that you don't know all about.

Right Way to Buy

is to come down to a yard where you are sure of a square deal all around. If you come here that's what you'll get, as any number of people can tell you from experience. We don't calculate you are going to buy lumber once in your lifetime, so we treat you in a manner that will bring you here when ever you need more.

To the Electors of Taber.

I am a candidate for a seat on your council, and I appeal to you for your votes and support. It is the duty of every citizen of Taber to place on the new council, men of ability and good sound judgment. We do not want "knockers" on the council, who regard everything in an unfavourable light, and who are universal growlers and complainers, who cannot and who themselves are incapable of accomplishing anything, and who, in a nasty venomous way, belittle all things, enterprises or individuals, and are always complaining of bad luck. We want "Booster," men with a glad smile for everyone, men who are accomplishing something in life, who believe that everything is ordered for the best, who always look on the bright side of things who have a good word for everyone, and whom the knocker calls lucky.

Whom do you think will make the best councillor? Which will do the most to build up and develop Taber, which has, at last awakened, and which is now determined to become, not only one of the greatest cities of the west, but of Canada? The knocker will do nothing, accomplish nothing, and give nothing for Taber or himself. I do not think that you want to be represented by men who are overvaluing knocking. If you elect me on Monday, you will find in me an able representative

THE LOADED GUN.

A Most Dangerous Thing to Have. The loaded pistol to the home is an object of danger, wherever it may be placed. No one of any sense in an emergency it must be within easy reach. If it is within easy reach it may figure in a homicide or a suicide. The audaciously wicked person may kill a member of the household by mistake. A child may pick it up and explode it. If it is not within easy reach it might as well be in a shop downtown as far as resisting burglars or serving a useful purpose is concerned. If it is put away as a curiosity it should always be unloaded. If the weapon is a relic of the past, a specimen of an ancient form of gunmaking, it is just as interesting with its chambers empty as with them filled.

Of course pistols may be put away loaded with the full intention of having them safely fired or unloaded later and then forgotten. This is a matter that cannot be neglected without danger. The loaded gun is a menace to life as long as it remains loaded and within reach. Even at the bottom of a trunk it is possible cause of trouble. It betrays everybody to make sure that there are none of these hidden weapons on the premises, to be found by running children or suddenly disclosed in the course of housecleaning or changes.

Fines in Germany.

The German workman who the other day was fined in a London police court probably considered that he had a genuine grievance when he complained that, in addition to the fine, his compulsory attendance at the court had lost him a day's pay. For they do these things better—at any rate, from the delinquent's point of view—in the fatherland. For what may be described as a trivial offense the worker is not compelled to attend the court, and the amount of the fine is collected from him at his home by a policeman, in the event of a more serious though still comparatively venial breach of the law, punishable by a short term of imprisonment, justice is satisfied if he works off the time by instalments Sunday and holidays. —London Chronicle.

Ruskin and Tobacco.

Ruskin's dislike of tobacco is believed to have arisen from the fact that it is a comparatively modern discovery. There was no tobacco in the middle ages. He conceived "the notion weed" with the decline of England as an art producing country.

word that my interests and those of the town will be identical. I believe in the town owning and keeping its franchise. There are several vital questions to come up before the new council. The Gas Well's one, and I will vote against giving a 25 years' franchise to the company which is trying to get it. I believe that the town should reserve this to itself.

The Lighting of the Town will have to be taken into consideration, and when this question is looked into, I will advocate the town owning and running its own lighting plant.

The Waterworks question will necessitate a very great deal of work, and only men who have had experience should handle this question. With the certainty of Taber growing and becoming a large town, the mains should be laid to accommodate the future growth.

Our Fire department requires putting in working order. At the present time we are at the mercy of the fire fiend, and any building in town could not expect any assistance from the toy chemical engines now kept. I consider that whoever was responsible for the sixteen or seventeen hundred dollars put into these things, did not know what they were doing. They are useless, and never can be of use to Taber. We are at the mercy of fire, and, if elected, I will try to put some one in charge of this department.

Our Police department, in my opinion, is well managed, considering the amount of work our constables are asked to perform, and I do not

A LONDON DINNER.

The Scene is Elegant and Impressive. "A German" thus writes the Express. "Must a dinner be so splendid? Is there class here? Elegant indeed, splendid surroundings—flowing, softly, the atmosphere, the dining ladies and gentlemen proceed with their meal. The scene is undoubtedly very impressive, but, oh, so sad! Amid the sparkle of jewels and silver and crystal and porcelain, amid a scene that fairly drives, beggars for a bright smile, a low, rippling laugh or at least that deep, unadorned hum that makes itself otherwise noticed wherever there is a large gathering, the diners sit as in expectation of the judgment day. Sometimes someone does speak—now and then. The lips hardly part. The other nods his head in terrible earnest. Thus silence reigns supreme again. A friend who had been in England once related a story, the point of which I have never fully appreciated until now. Like myself, the first time he entered a dining room in London he looked around in surprise. Finally toward the end of the meal he called the waiter. "Tell me, please," he asked, "does anybody ever laugh here?" "Well," replied the waiter, "I am sorry to say that we have had some candidates, but not often, sir—not often."

The Toughest Wood.

Lignum vitae is the toughest wood known. It cannot be worked by splitting.

Cooked Under Water.

An Englishman made a wager that he could cook a plum pudding ten feet beneath the surface of the Thames and win the bet by placing the pudding in a tin case and putting the whole in a sack of flax. The heat of the flax, slaking when it came in contact with the water, was sufficient to cook the pudding in two hours.

Chick Pen.

The zarabana, or chick pen, is ground into dirt in Spain, where it forms one of the staple foods of the people. Much of the crop is raised in Mexico, where it grows with hardly any care.

Silkworms.

Silkworms and their eggs were first brought to Europe in the sixth century A.D. A number of monks had traveled in China as missionaries, brought away a quantity of the cocoons contained in their walls.

The Nox Tasteless Liquor, Drug and Tobacco Cure

We have yet to hear of one failure in where a fair trial has been given. Cured without the person knowing it. A smokeless and absolutely without taste, either, sister or wife, you would be doing great work by giving this remedy to some members of your family. We will mail a month's treatment for five dollars. The Sobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont. For sale at the Alberta Drug Store.

times that we as taxpayers could get a better service for the amount paid.

There will be a lot of work to be done, either by day-work or by contract. I will do my best to see that our own men get the work, and, if possible, do the work after the mines are closed in the spring. And I will use my best judgment in securing a fair day's pay for the men who do the hard laboring work. There should be a bye-law introduced to regulate the hours of labour and to fix a rate of wages so that contractors and others could not pay a man working on the town works less than the bye-law has provided for. I will endeavor to use my influence in all the works of the town so that the working man will get a fair share of what he produces.

Elector, in coming before you, I make no apology for so doing. I take the privilege of every British subject, and it will be an honor to me to enter your council!

Taber is an important place. It is talked about, east, west, north, and south, the influx of settlers, business men and capitalists will be very great, and you will need men of ability to keep in touch, and grapple with the wants of a growing town.

I believe in economy so long as it does not retard progress. We must have progress in Taber, and if you elect me, my motto shall be progress. I ask you; if you have confidence in me, to mark your ballot, on Monday.

Tigers of India.

Many tigers in India live entirely on domestic cattle, and the upkeep of one which does so has been variously estimated at from $50 to nearly ten times that sum.

July derives its name from Julius Caesar, who was born in that month.

Ransoming the Dead.

In medieval times not only were living prisoners ransomed by their friends, but a ransom was demanded even for the bodies of those slain in battle.

An Admission.

It was at a little northwestern town in New South Wales, A. travelling Englishman stood on the veranda of the public house watching the sun go down across the Black Soil plains in a splendor of purple and gold. "By Jove," he exclaimed to an impassive bushman who was lounging against a post, "that's gorgeous, isn't it?"

The bushman glanced at his head a little and looked critically at the glowing west. "Not bad," he drawled, "not bad for a little place like Bogalong."

Two Texts.

A church in Scotland, being vacant, two candidates offered to preach their names, being Adam and Iow. The last named preached in the morning, taking for his text, "Adam where art thou?" The congregation was much pleased and said, "Mr. Adam preached in the night, taking for his text, 'Iow where art thou?' The church was sermon gained him two converts."

LONE ST. KILDA.

How the Inhabitants Live on Isolated Little Island.

Barronried for eight months of the year by an isolating fog, which hides almost the coast from the outer world, St. Kilda, casts its mist in May, and closes forth to the main the shores of the island. With the resumption of the tourist traffic, the furthest fling of the Western Hemisphere comes to the attention of the world.

From now till August its people live in the air of coming and going steamships. It is only within the last 12 years (says the Scotman) that the lone isle began to be included in the itineraries of the tourists. In earlier days the islanders had to be satisfied with the certainty of a call from the factor's smack once or twice a year. It brought the factor on board. He came, as he comes yet, to collect the rents in kind—cattle, grain, cheese, sea bird feathers, fulmar oil, dried fish, and other limited products—and stock of meal, flour, salt, tea and sugar and shawls. Tea and sugar are their comparatively modern luxuries, with only 20 shillings' familiarity to spice their pleasure. Shops are unknown on the island, so each householder must calculate and exactly quantify of goods and merchandise he will require to tide him over the winter. There remain, of course, the dairy produce of the island, and the mutton which its sheep supplies. Beef or pork are never eaten.

The St. Kildians give all their cattle to the proprietor for rent, and, unlike most of the islands, keep pigs. Comparatively modern illustrations show the fashion in dress to have been distinctly tartan. It is much more up to date now. The men manufacture their own tweed and act as their own tailors. Occasionally, indeed, they tie the needle on behalf of the women, who are fond of bright colors and the unknown of the modern idiosyncrasy. Scarlet is their favorite shade. Imported shawls are worn on the island in winter time, and Turkey red napkins in summer. Some of the younger women order their costumes from the mainland.

The majority are content with dresses of their own making. Education is now so universal that although it is only within recent years that the Ladies' Association in Edinburgh began to teach English to the children. Previously the children were taught Gaelic by the most proficient among the adults; obviously a haphazard method.

There are about 1,000 sheep scattered over the islands on common pastures, and every owner has his private flock. The sheep are small and wild, and are not so tame as those of the mainland. Their count for the number of does which are kept. In June, the shearing season, the islanders are busy with the sheep on the rocks, where they have a choice of being caught, or of being killed by the wolves.

Kidney Suffering IN THE SPRING

Backaches and tired feelings tell of weak kidney action—Prompt relief by using DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

No organs of the body are so susceptible to the quickly changing temperature of spring as the kidneys. Sudden cold waves mean chilling of the surface of the body, closing of the pores of the skin and over crowding of the kidneys at a time when they are already overworked in an effort to free the system of the accumulated poisons of winter.

The tired draggy feelings you experience and the weakness and pains in the back tell of a poisoned system and defective kidneys.

There is no treatment for kidney disease which will afford you relief so quickly as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and none which will so certainly cure the most complicated forms of this disease.

There is a reason for this. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills awaken the action of the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, and thus secure a thorough cleansing and restoring of the whole excretory system.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are not a substitute or imitations which possess no principle.

Mrs. F. O. Chase, Baldwin's Mills, Que., writes: "I was very sick last spring. The doctors said I must go to the hospital for an operation but I didn't want to. My liver and kidneys did not act and I suffered terribly. I began taking Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and nothing else, and am now fully cured and doing my own work as usual."

The Allen Players.

We are to have a return visit from
Miss Verna Felton and the Allen
Players on Monday next for two nights. They are going to open Beck's Opera House. The play for Monday night will be the stirring western drama, entitled "Jim, the Westerner," a play, something after the order of "The Pit," dealing with stocks and bonds, and life in the west. On Tuesday night, they will present "Sherlock Holmes," the play
made famous by William Gillett.
Everybody knows Sir A. Conan
Doyle's celebrated detective story, and, as this is the first time it has ever been presented in this section of the country, it should draw a packed house. Remember the opening night, and be sure to secure your tickets early from the Alberta
Drug Store, as they will go fast.
The price should suit everyone, and the company is so well known here
that they are assured of a good time.
